I'm honored to be considered as a part of your wedding day. In many cases, a bride ends up spending just as much time, if not more, with me on her wedding day as she does with her new husband. I know how important it is to find someone who not only takes beautiful photographs, but also someone who you can share in the joys and laughter of such a wonderful day. I'm grateful that so many couples allow me to be a part of such a special occasion.

Digital files are wonderful. They allow us to share our memories with friends in far-off places. But where digital images offer us the ability to share far and wide, a physical album is a long-term archival piece to be shared, felt and enjoyed for years and generations to come. All of my wedding products are printed through hand selected partners based on a combination of long-term durability, aesthetic and feel.

Memory boxes are one of my favorite photo keepsakes. I gift my husband, Jeff, a memory box every year with my favorite photos from the year. It just feels good to lift the photos out with that little ribbon and go through them in the good old fashioned way. Add it to a bookshelf in your living room so friends and family can share in the experience of reliving your happy day.

Your photo booth gallery will be included in your digital files after the wedding, and you'll receive a complimentary book with your favorite photos.
